Georgia Commission on Family Violence Names Executive Director

Atlanta, GA — Mr. Greg Loughlin has recently been named Executive Director of the Georgia Commission on Family Violence. Mr. Loughlin comes to the position after nine years on the Commission staff. Judge Peggy Walker, Juvenile Court of Douglas County and Commission Chair, made the announcement on behalf of the commission members and the hiring committee. Of Mr. Loughlin, Judge Walker said, “The Commission Members look forward to his leadership as Director knowing that we are in competent hands.”

Ms. Marla S. Moore, AOC Director, expressed her satisfaction with the decision, “Mr. Loughlin brings a level of experience and dedication to the Commission that will benefit the partnership between the Commission on Family Violence and the Administrative Office of the Courts as we work to end domestic violence.”

Mr. Loughlin is a graduate of Guildford College in Greensboro, North Carolina; he earned a Masters degree in Social Work from the University of Tennessee-Knoxville. He serves as co-chair of the Bishop’s Task Force on Domestic Violence for the Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta and is active in many metro area community service organizations.

The Commission on Family Violence certifies all Georgia Family Violence Intervention programs and coordinates the statewide Domestic Violence Fatality Review project. The Commission, created in 1992 by the Georgia General Assembly, is housed with the Administrative Office of the Courts/Judicial Council of Georgia.
